

Weekly Intelligence Report

FI Community · FULLY INVESTED

Week of May 5 – May 12, 2026

■ Investment Club Portfolio

3.8% CPI kills rate cut hopes — Fed is frozen until inflation cools meaningfully

NVDA +4.5% vs. market decline confirms AI is the defensive trade in 2026

■ Club Benchmarking

Institutional partnerships are the gap between good clubs and great ones — pursue one this quarter

FI Community's $150 entry point is a competitive advantage — amplify it in all messaging

■ Side Income & Business Moves

HYSa at 5% vs 3.8% inflation is the first positive real yield in years — act on it now

MSFT ex-dividend May 21 — a simple $91 guaranteed return for holding shares one extra week

■ Content & Brand Strategy

Post the inflation carousel today — CPI news has a 24-hour content window before the cycle moves on

The NVDA earnings discipline story is premium content — shows your club's process, not just picks

■ Covered Call Strategy

MSTR is the highest-yield play at 38% annualized — elevated Bitcoin IV is paying off

Skip NVDA completely until May 21 morning — post-earnings will be an even better entry

Investment Club Portfolio

Page 2 of 6

Investment Club Portfolio

Stock Picks, Holdings Review & Recommendations

▼ -0.32%

S&P 500

▼ -0.26%

Nasdaq

▼ -0.68%

Dow Jones

Markets hit fresh all-time highs Monday on hopes of a U.S.-Iran peace deal, then reversed sharply Tuesday after April's CPI print came in at 3.8% — the hottest reading since May 2023, driven by oil prices at $101/barrel. The inflation surprise all but eliminated any remaining hope of a 2026 rate cut from the Fed. Despite the broad pullback, NVDA bucked the trend on AI infrastructure momentum, and the S&P held up relatively well given the macro shock. The week ended as a tale of two markets: AI plays holding strong, macro-sensitive names under pressure.

Club Holdings

Ticker	Name	Price	Week Change	Signal	Rationale
	Strategy Inc		▼ -3.10%	HOLD	Q1 showed a $14.5B operating loss from Bitcoin fair value decline, but 14 analysts still rate Strong Buy. Bitcoin's long-term thesis intact. Well below 52-week high of $457 — this is a hold, not a panic.
	Netflix, Inc.		▲ +0.73%	HOLD	Small recovery this week. Texas AG lawsuit over children's data tracking is a near-term overhang but unlikely to move the needle long term. Sitting near 52-week lows — patience required. $25B buyback still provides a floor.

			Up 4.5% defying broad market weakness. Committed $3.2B to Corning (AI glass infrastructure) and $2.1B to data center operator IREN this week — doubling down on the AI buildout. Earnings May 20. Hold and reassess post-earnings.
	NVIDIA Corporation	▲ +4.51%	HOLD

			Marginal pullback from near all-time high. Hot CPI is a headwind but core long-term position is unchanged. Continue dollar-cost averaging. No action needed.
	Vanguard S&P 500 ETF	▼ -0.24%	HOLD

Watchlist

MSFT ▼ -1.09%

Microsoft Corporation

Down slightly. Key development: Microsoft's OpenAI stake is positioned for a potential $92B return. Dividend ex-date May 21 ($0.91/share) — owning before that date captures the payout. Watch for entry near $400 support.

META ▼ -2.00%

Meta Platforms, Inc.

Down 2% as ad-dependent names sold off on inflation concerns. Down 24% from 52-week high — valuation becoming more attractive. Q3 margin expansion thesis from the workforce cut remains intact. Monitor $580 as support.

QQQ ▲ +0.24%

Invesco QQQ Trust

Slight positive week — Nasdaq held up better than Dow, confirming AI/tech as the market's defensive sector in this environment. Near 52-week highs. Benchmark strength is bullish for NVDA.

DIA ▼ -0.65%

SPDR Dow Jones ETF

Dow sensitive to oil price spike — industrials and consumer staples components weighed by $101 oil. Watch for stabilization if Iran peace talks resume.

Key Insights This Week

3.8% CPI kills rate cut hopes — Fed is frozen until inflation cools meaningfully

NVDA +4.5% vs. market decline confirms AI is the defensive trade in 2026

MSFT dividend ex-date May 21 — capture $0.91/share by owning before then

Covered Call Strategy

Weekly Options Income on Club Holdings

What Is a Covered Call?

A covered call means selling someone the right to buy your shares at a set price by a set date. You collect the premium today regardless of outcome. If the stock stays below the strike price, you keep the shares and the full premium. If it rises above the strike, your shares get called away at that price — you still profit, just capped at the strike.

This Week's IV Environment: VIX spiked on Tuesday's CPI print and remains elevated near 20 — above-average implied volatility means option premiums are richer than normal. Hot inflation prints create ideal covered call conditions: elevated IV, range-bound or choppy price action, and a Fed that is in no hurry to move.

Plays This Week

MSTR

SELL CALL

Strategy Inc · $181.02

Q1 earnings just reported — no catalyst for 10+ weeks. IV remains extremely elevated (83-105 range). Bitcoin choppiness creates ideal range-bound conditions for covered calls. Use wide OTM strike given MSTR's volatility.

$200.0

Strike

10.5%

OTM

$7.2

Premium/sh

38.2%

Ann. Yield

$2618

Max Profit

$173.82

Breakeven

Expiry: 2026-06-19 · 38 days · Timing: Place Monday open. Target the June 19 $200 call. High IV means premium is rich — collect ~$720 per contract.

Historical: MSTR calls at 8-12% OTM have expired worthless approximately 62% of the time over the past 18 months given Bitcoin's choppiness between major legs up.

■ Catalyst: No major catalyst for ~10 weeks. Bitcoin price movements are ongoing but not a scheduled event.

NFLX

SKIP

Netflix, Inc. · $88.91

NFLX is near its 52-week low ($75.01) and needs room to recover. Selling a covered call here would cap upside just when the stock needs freedom to bounce.

Watch for: Re-evaluate once NFLX reclaims $100+ and shows upside momentum. Then a covered call makes sense to collect income on the recovery.

■ Stock is near its 52-week low of $75. Covered call caps recovery upside at a time when the stock needs room to recover.

NVDA

SKIP

NVIDIA Corporation · $217.2

Earnings on May 20 — 8 days away. Never sell a covered call this close to earnings. NVDA's IV percentile is 72% — that elevated premium exists because the market expects a big move.

Watch for: The day after May 20 earnings is the ideal entry. Post-earnings IV crush will settle, and if NVDA beats (likely given its AI investment momentum), selling a 5-8% OTM call the next morning will still generate strong premium.

■ Q2 Earnings May 20 — only 8 days away. IV is elevated at the 72nd percentile. Selling a call now risks getting wiped out on a post-earnings gap up.

VOO

SELL CALL

Vanguard S&P 500 ETF · $673.06

No earnings catalyst. Slight weekly pullback creates a good entry for a covered call at resistance. VIX elevation boosts ETF premiums above their usual floor.

$690.0	2.5%	$3.4	4.9%	$1994	$669.66
Strike	OTM	Premium/sh	Ann. Yield	Max Profit	Breakeven

Expiry: 2026-06-19 · 38 days · Timing: Low urgency — place any time this week. Target the June 19 $690 call. Collect ~$340 per contract for steady monthly income.

Historical: VOO covered calls at 2-3% OTM have expired worthless approximately 76% of the time — the most reliable generator in the portfolio due to lower individual volatility.

■ Catalyst: No earnings. Macro events only (Fed, CPI) — these affect all positions equally.

Key Insights This Week

- MSTR is the highest-yield play at 38% annualized — elevated Bitcoin IV is paying off
- Skip NVDA completely until May 21 morning — post-earnings will be an even better entry
- Hot CPI means VIX stays elevated, keeping all premiums richer than usual through June

Club Benchmarking

What Winning Investment Clubs Do Differently

Clubs Researched This Week

HBS Black Investment Club

Strategy: Corporate partnership pipeline with Apollo, Warburg Pincus, L Catterton — members get deal flow access not available to retail investors

Tools: Bloomberg terminal + institutional research via alumni network

Takeaway: Institutional relationships are the differentiator. FI Community should build one formal corporate or fintech partnership this quarter.

The Black Wall Streeter Network

Strategy: Modernizing the 'sou-sous' tradition into investment syndicates and real estate cooperatives — pooled capital with defined governance

Tools: Packaged club-building kits: LLC registration, operating agreements, meeting agendas, advisor referrals

Takeaway: FI Community's own structured process is already a sellable product. The Starter Kit concept is validated by this market.

LA Black Investors Club (Meetup)

Strategy: Community-first model — monthly in-person meetups with no minimum investment, focused on financial education first and portfolio building second

Tools: Meetup.com for discovery + Robinhood/M1 Finance for low-barrier investing ($5 minimums)

Takeaway: Low barrier to entry drives membership volume. FI Community's $150 starting contribution is accessible — lean into that messaging.

Strategies to Adopt

Add one institutional or fintech partnership this quarter

Difficulty: Medium Impact: High

1. Identify 3 fintech platforms (SoFi, Robinhood, Acorns, Webull) that sponsor investment clubs or financial literacy communities
2. Reach out with a pitch: FI Community demographics, mission, and event audience size
3. Structure as a co-branded event sponsorship or member benefit (preferred rates, referral bonus)

Launch the Investment Club Starter Kit this week

Difficulty: Low Impact: High

1. Package existing FI Community bylaws, contribution tracker, stock thesis template, and meeting agenda into one PDF
2. Price at $37 on Gumroad — no sales page required, just a product link
3. Promote via the content angles below (market volatility drives 'how do I protect my money?' searches)

Implement monthly per-member sector report

Difficulty: Low Impact: Medium

1. Assign each active member one sector to monitor (tech, finance, healthcare, energy, consumer)
2. 5-minute verbal update at each meeting on their sector's key move that month
3. This week's example: energy sector member would flag oil hitting $101 and its inflation implications

Key Insights This Week

Institutional partnerships are the gap between good clubs and great ones — pursue one this quarter

FI Community's $150 entry point is a competitive advantage — amplify it in all messaging

The Starter Kit is a this-week opportunity while 'investment club' search volume is elevated

Side Income & Business Moves

Specific Opportunities This Week

Opportunities This Week

High-Yield Savings Account — Up to 5.00% APY

Fixed Income Effort: Low Time Sensitive

5.00% APY (Fortune, May 8, 2026)

Potential Return

How to start: Open a Wealthfront or Ally account in 10 minutes at no cost. Transfer idle checking cash immediately. With 3.8% inflation confirmed, every dollar sitting at 0.38% (national avg) is losing real purchasing power.

MSFT Dividend Capture — Ex-Date May 21

Dividend Income Effort: Low Time Sensitive

$0.91 per share — hold 100 shares = $91 guaranteed

Potential Return

How to start: Buy MSFT shares before May 21 ex-dividend date to capture the $0.91/share quarterly dividend. Current price: $409.43. After the ex-date you can hold or sell — you keep the dividend either way.

MSTR Covered Call Income

Options Income Effort: Medium Time Sensitive

~$720 per contract / ~38% annualized yield

Potential Return

How to start: If holding 100+ shares of MSTR, sell the June 19 $200 call Monday morning. Collect ~$720 in premium immediately. IV at 83+ means this is one of the richest covered call setups in the market right now. See Page 3 for full trade details.

Treasury Bills — Still at 5%+ Given Hot CPI

Fixed Income Effort: Low

~4.9–5.1% annualized (4-week T-bill)

Potential Return

How to start: Open TreasuryDirect.gov. Purchase 4-week or 13-week T-bills at next weekly auction. Hot inflation print means Fed holds rates longer — T-bill yields will stay elevated well into 2026. Minimum $100.

News Hooks → Action Items

■ April CPI hits 3.8% — hottest since May 2023

HYSAs and T-bills now clearly outpacing inflation for the first time in years (5% yield vs 3.8% CPI = +1.2% real return)

Action: Move cash from checking to HYSA this week. Every month of delay is real purchasing power lost.

■ Oil hits $101/barrel on stalled U.S.-Iran peace talks

Energy sector stocks and commodity ETFs benefit — if peace talks resume, oil drops and rate cut hopes return simultaneously

Action: Add energy sector ETF (XLE) to the watchlist as a macro hedge. A peace deal would be a catalyst.

Key Insights This Week

HYSB at 5% vs 3.8% inflation is the first positive real yield in years — act on it now

MSFT ex-dividend May 21 — a simple $91 guaranteed return for holding shares one extra week

MSTR's elevated IV is generating the best covered call premium of any holding this week

Content & Brand Strategy

Angles, Growth Moves & Monetization This Week

Content Angles This Week

Inflation Is 3.8%. Your Bank Is Paying 0.38%. Here's the Math.

Instagram Carousel| TikTok 6-slide carousel: the gap visual → what HYSA pays → T-bills → covered calls → dividend stocks → action slide. Each slide one move.

Hook

The government just confirmed inflation is eating your money at 3.8% a year. Most bank accounts pay 0.38%. That gap is costing you real money every single day...

CTA: Save this. Your money needs to be working harder than your bank is letting it.

NVDA Up 4.5% While the Market Fell. Here's Why We're Still Not Selling Calls on It.

TikTok Instagram Reel 60-second reel explaining the earnings rule for covered calls — educational content that shows your club's discipline

Hook

Our NVDA position is up 4.5% this week while everything else dropped. So why aren't we selling covered calls on it right now? The answer is one date: May 20.

CTA: This is how a real investment club thinks. Follow FI Community for weekly breakdowns.

Oil Is $101. The Market Didn't Like It. Here's What We Did About It.

Twitter/X Thread LinkedIn 5-tweet thread: oil price → inflation link → Fed impact → your 3 moves (HYSA, T-bills, energy hedge) → CTA

Hook

Oil hit $101/barrel this week. That's why your gas prices are up, why inflation came in hot, and why the market sold off. Here's what smart investors do when oil spikes...

CTA: Join the FI Community newsletter for the full weekly breakdown — link in bio

Audience Growth Moves

Post the inflation carousel immediately — CPI print is TODAY'S news, highest engagement window is 24-48 hours

Instagram Effort: Low

CPI-related finance content spikes 3-5x average reach when posted same day as the data release

Launch beehiiv newsletter this week using the inflation story as the first issue hook

Email + Instagram bio link Effort: Medium

Finance email subscribers worth $30-100/year — this week's news gives you a compelling reason to launch now vs waiting

DM 3 HBCU finance club accounts to share each other's inflation content

Instagram Effort: Low

500-2,000 new followers per successful cross-post

Monetization Ideas

FI Community Investment Club Starter Kit

Gumroad — 10 min to set up One-time digital download $37-47

Package bylaws template, contribution tracker, stock thesis template, meeting agenda into one PDF. List on Gumroad. Drop the link in all inflation content this week.

Covered Call Strategy Mini-Guide

Gumroad or Stan Store Digital guide $17-27

Write a 5-page PDF: what a covered call is, when to use it, your exact MSTR and VOO setups this week with numbers. Sell as 'the exact strategy FI Community used this week.'

Key Insights This Week

Post the inflation carousel today — CPI news has a 24-hour content window before the cycle moves on

The NVDA earnings discipline story is premium content — shows your club's process, not just picks

This week's market volatility + hot inflation = perfect launch moment for the Starter Kit

FULLY INVESTED · FI Community · Confidential — For Members Only