FI COMMUNITY · FULLY INVESTED

Week of April 28 – May 5, 2026

Investment Club Portfolio

- › MSTR +18% and NVDA -6% in the same week shows crypto/AI divergence is real right now
- › Fed's 8-4 rate hold vote is the most contested since 1992 — policy uncertainty is elevated

Club Benchmarking

- › Top Black investment clubs win on institutional partnerships, not stock picks
- › FI Community's club-building process is already a sellable product — the market exists

Side Income & Business Moves

- › T-bills at ~5% with the Fed on hold — idle cash is losing value if not deployed here
- › NVDA's -6% dip ahead of May 27 earnings is a historically favorable setup

Content & Brand Strategy

- › The Fed's 8-4 split is the week's most shareable angle — post it before the news cycle moves on
- › MSTR vs NVDA divergence is a perfect "here's what our club actually saw" content moment

STOCK PICKS, HOLDINGS REVIEW & RECOMMENDATIONS

▲ +1.73%

S&P 500

▲ +2.65%

NASDAQ

DOW JONES

Markets recovered strongly this week with the S&P 500 up 1.73% and Nasdaq surging 2.65%, capping an April that saw the S&P gain over 10% — its best monthly performance since November 2020. The week was not without turbulence: mid-week oil price spikes tied to U.S.-Iran tensions briefly sent the Dow down 550 points before a pullback in oil prices sparked a sharp recovery. The Fed held rates steady at 3.5–3.75% in what became a historically contentious 8-4 vote — the most dissent since 1992 — signaling growing internal disagreement about the path forward. Earnings were a mixed bag: AMD and Caterpillar beat estimates decisively, while Netflix missed Q2 guidance and Meta shed nearly 10% on AI investment headwinds and a 10% workforce cut.

CLUB HOLDINGS

TICKER	NAME	PRICE	WEEK CHANGE	SIGNAL	RATIONALE
MSTR	Strategy Inc	$186.9	▲ +18.15%	HOLD	Massive 18% week driven by Bitcoin momentum. Well below 52-week high of $457 — long-term thesis intact. Take no action; let the Bitcoin cycle play out but do not chase at this level.
NFLX	Netflix, Inc.	$87.89	▼ -4.59%	HOLD	Q2 guidance miss and Reed Hastings' board exit spooked the market. However, Netflix approved a $25B buyback — signaling deep confidence from the board. Price is approaching 52-week low support at $75. Hold and monitor.
NVDA	NVIDIA Corporation	$196.5	▼ -6.09%	BUY	Down 6% on OpenAI revenue miss concerns, but Micron's HBM chips are sold out through 2026 — confirming AI infrastructure demand is real. NVDA earnings are May 27. 37 analysts rate Strong Buy with a $270 target. This dip is an opportunity.
VOO	Vanguard S&P 500 ETF	$665.3	▲ +1.69%	HOLD	Near its 52-week high of $666.55 after April's historic monthly rally. Core long-term position. Continue dollar-cost averaging. No action needed.

WATCHLIST

MSFT ▼ -3.08%

Microsoft Corporation

Down 3% alongside broader tech weakness. Azure cloud growth remains the core thesis. Sitting 26% below its 52-week high of $555. Watch for stabilization near $400 as a potential entry point.

META ▼ -9.59%

Meta Platforms, Inc.

Nearly -10% this week — the week's biggest loser. 10% global workforce cut announced to offset AI investment costs. Short-term pain, but leaner operations could drive margin expansion. Watch for a base near $580–590 before considering entry.

QQQ ▲ +3.03%

Invesco QQQ Trust

Near its all-time high. Broad tech ETF strength confirms the Nasdaq rally has legs beyond individual names. A good benchmark for gauging tech sector health.

DIA ▲ +0.88%

SPDR Dow Jones ETF

Steady near 52-week highs. Caterpillar's +10% earnings pop drove industrial component strength. Defensive but growth — watch for any break above $505 all-time high.

KEY INSIGHTS THIS WEEK

- › MSTR +18% and NVDA -6% in the same week shows crypto/AI divergence is real right now
- › Fed's 8-4 rate hold vote is the most contested since 1992 — policy uncertainty is elevated
- › April's S&P +10% month is historic — stay invested but tighten stop-losses heading into summer

Club Benchmarking

WHAT WINNING INVESTMENT CLUBS DO DIFFERENTLY

CLUBS RESEARCHED THIS WEEK

HBS Black Investment Club

Strategy: Corporate partnership pipeline with top-tier PE and VC firms: Apollo, Warburg Pincus, L Catterton, 26North, Partners Group

Tools: Formal deal flow access through institutional partnerships + Bloomberg terminal

Takeaway: The differentiator isn't stock picks — it's who you have in the room. Building institutional relationships early creates a flywheel of opportunity.

The Black Wall Streeter Investment Club Network

Strategy: Packaged club formation: LLC registration, operating agreements, meeting agendas, coaching, and financial advisor referrals bundled as a product

Tools: Structured onboarding kit + certified advisor referral network

Takeaway: FI Community could monetize its own club-building expertise as a product — the infrastructure you've built has market value.

BetterInvesting / NAIC Network

Strategy: Stock Study methodology — standardized 5-year EPS growth analysis required before any purchase vote

Tools: BetterInvesting Stock Study software + member portfolio dashboard

Takeaway: A formal thesis process eliminates emotional decisions and builds institutional memory across member turnover.

STRATEGIES TO ADOPT

Build one corporate or institutional partnership

Difficulty: ● Medium Impact: ● High

- 1 Identify 3 financial firms (RIA, fintech, local credit union) aligned with FI Community's mission
- 2 Pitch a co-branded event or member benefit (preferred rates, guest speaker, deal flow access)
- 3 Formalize with a simple MOU or sponsorship agreement

Implement written investment thesis requirement

Difficulty: ● Low Impact: ● High

- 1 Create a 1-page thesis template: ticker, bull case, risks, price target, time horizon
- 2 Require submission 48 hours before any buy/sell vote
- 3 Archive all theses in shared Google Drive — review quarterly to track accuracy

Productize FI Community's club-building process

Difficulty: ● Low Impact: ● High

- 1 Package bylaws template, contribution tracker, stock thesis template, and meeting agenda into a Starter Kit
- 2 Sell on Gumroad at $37–47
- 3 Promote to HBCU finance clubs and young professional networks as your distribution channel

KEY INSIGHTS THIS WEEK

- › Top Black investment clubs win on institutional partnerships, not stock picks
- › FI Community's club-building process is already a sellable product — the market exists
- › A written thesis requirement is the single highest-ROI process upgrade available right now

Side Income & Business Moves

SPECIFIC OPPORTUNITIES THIS WEEK

OPPORTUNITIES THIS WEEK

High-Yield Savings Account (HYSA)

~4.0% APY

POTENTIAL RETURN

FIXED INCOME

EFFORT: LOW

How to start: Open Marcus by Goldman Sachs or Ally Bank online in 10 minutes. Move idle checking cash immediately. Fed holding rates means these rates stay elevated through at least year-end.

U.S. Treasury Bills (4-Week or 13-Week)

~4.8–5.0% annualized

POTENTIAL RETURN

TIME SENSITIVE

How to start: Open a free TreasuryDirect.gov account. Purchase at the next weekly auction. Minimum $100. Given the Fed's hold and elevated inflation, locking in T-bill rates now is smart.

META Dip Play — Covered Opportunity

15–25% upside if thesis plays out in 6–12 months

POTENTIAL RETURN

EQUITIES

EFFORT: MEDIUM

TIME SENSITIVE

How to start: META is down nearly 10% this week and 24% off its 52-week high. The 10% workforce cut will compress costs and expand margins. Watch for stabilization near $580–590 and evaluate a small position if the club thesis supports it.

NVDA Pre-Earnings Positioning

Analyst consensus target: $270 (+37% from current)

POTENTIAL RETURN

EQUITIES

TIME SENSITIVE

How to start: NVDA reports earnings May 27. Micron's HBM sold-out status confirms AI chip demand is real. Consider a small position now or a defined-risk options play before the earnings catalyst. Do not over-allocate before earnings.

NEWS HOOKS → ACTION ITEMS

 Fed holds rates at 3.5–3.75% in historically split 8-4 vote

Rates staying elevated longer than expected — HYSA and T-bills still paying meaningfully above inflation

Action: Move any cash sitting in a standard checking account into a HYSA or T-bill this week

Spirit Airlines ceases operations

Airline consolidation means fewer budget options — legacy carriers (DAL, UAL) and their investors benefit

Action: Add DAL or UAL to the watchlist as a potential beneficiary of reduced low-cost competition

Meta announces 10% global workforce cut

Layoffs signal cost discipline — margin expansion likely in Q3/Q4 2026 earnings

Action: Put META on the watchlist at $580 support and revisit after Q2 earnings

KEY INSIGHTS THIS WEEK

- › T-bills at ~5% with the Fed on hold — idle cash is losing value if not deployed here
- › NVDA's -6% dip ahead of May 27 earnings is a historically favorable setup
- › META's workforce cut is short-term pain hiding long-term margin expansion
